To the AU-YVC Selection Committee, African Union Commission Addis Ababa, Ethiopia

RE: APPLICATION FOR THE AFRICAN UNION YOUTH VOLUNTEER CORPS (AU-YVC)

Dear Members of the Selection Committee,

It is with great enthusiasm that I submit my application for the African Union Youth Volunteer Corps (AU-YVC). As a young African professional dedicated to the realization of Agenda 2063, I have long admired the AU-YVC's role in mobilizing the continent's greatest asset its youth to drive regional integration and sustainable development. I am eager to transition my background in policy support and administration into a service-oriented role that contributes to "The Africa We Want."

My commitment to the African Union's mission is backed by direct experience within the system. In 2025, I served as an Administrative Assistant and Support Officer at the African Union – InterAfrican Bureau for Animal Resources (AU-IBAR) in Nairobi. Working under the African Pastoral Market Development (APMD) Platform, I was responsible for conducting policy environment assessments and providing technical research support. This role gave me an intimate look at how continental frameworks are translated into actionable regional strategies, particularly regarding livelihoods and market linkages.

Beyond my technical familiarity with AU institutions, I bring a robust toolkit of professional skills to a prospective host organization:

- Research & Policy Analysis: Proven ability to analyze development-related data and support evidence-based policy assessments.
- Operational Excellence: Expert-level proficiency in digital platforms and administrative coordination, ensuring complex workflows remain efficient.
- Cross-Cultural Collaboration: Extensive experience working in multicultural environments, allowing me to adapt quickly to diverse host organizations across the continent.

I am motivated by the belief that youth-driven collective action is the primary engine for Africa's transformation. My tenure at AU-IBAR has already equipped me with the integrity, professional ethics, and institutional knowledge required to hit the ground running as an AU-YVC volunteer. I am prepared to dedicate my energy to fostering inclusive growth and supporting the strategic goals of my assigned host institution.

Thank you for your time and for the opportunity to contribute to our continent's future. I look forward to the possibility of discussing how my skills and dedication can support the African Union's mission.

Yours sincerely,

Francis Yohane
